James R. Mossetto is an associate in Cohen & Gresser's London office. He is a member of the firm's Corporate practice group, specializing in private funds and investment management.

James represents hedge funds and other alternative funds, fund managers, executives and investors, and family offices. His practice focuses on fund formation and ongoing operations, manager establishment, including structuring ownership and economic arrangements for LLPs and limited companies, and advising participating executives.

James also advises on regulatory compliance and FCA authorizations, LPs on fund investments, and supports on disputes in the investment management context. Additionally, James has worked on fund M&A transactions, secondary transactions and co-investments.

James has extensive experience of fund and investment structures in key jurisdictions, including the U.K., U.S., Cayman Islands, Guernsey, Jersey, Luxembourg and Ireland, and other offshore and emerging market jurisdictions.

Prior to joining Cohen & Gresser, James was an associate in the private funds teams at Clifford Chance and MJ Hudson, the asset management consultancy, in London. He has also completed a secondment in Jersey and has experience working in Australia.

James completed his Legal Practice Course with Distinction from BPP, London, and received his Bachelor of Laws (LLB) with First Class Honors from the University of Lincoln.
